McManis Faulkner, a leading Northern California trial firm, has represented clients in family law matters for more than 40 years. The firm’s Family Law Practice is highly regarded for its ability to resolve family legal issues with discretion and sensitivity, in addition to expertise. The practice regularly achieves successful outcomes for clients in matters such as marital and domestic partnership dissolutions, separation disputes, child custody, and “move away” and abduction issues (domestic and international).

McManis Faulkner combines a supporting, caring approach with strong, seasoned representation to create successful outcomes for all involved parties. The client benefits from the knowledge and experience of a team of lawyers, rather than a single attorney.

Complementing the Family Law Practice are the firm’s civil and business trial lawyers. The result is a powerful combination of family law sensibilities, business acumen, and courtroom trial experience.
